Dear Community Members,

Many of you will read this prior to my departure for sunny (and cooler) Florida. For those of you who do not, well, I'm now in sunny and cooler Florida. I arrived yesterday, Saturday, and will return 1 September. This is my 11th vacation on Anna Maria Island. Anna Maria is a lovely spot, across the causeway, just west of Bradenton, FL. I'm not far from Sarasota, where the FSSP has an apostolate, Christ the King.

I had the privilege of celebrating Mass at the Sarasota Apostolate when the FSSP were still "renters" (as we are here) at St. Martha Church. St. Martha Church is a rather famous landmark church in Sarasota. It has a long history with Ringling Brothers' Circus. In fact, various articles from the circus decorate the walls of the church. I seem to remember a circus wagon wheel hung on one wall. St. Martha's online history gives only a very small mention of the Latin Mass and no mention at all of the FSSP, but Latin Masses were celebrated there beginning in 1995 until the FSSP secured its own place a bit further out from "downtown." I happen to know the pastor at St. Martha and he was very gracious to me and to the FSSP. His name is Fr. Fausto Stampiglia and he is a very affable and charismatic gentleman, accent on gentleman.

Though I have been to Christ the King several times, I only remember celebrating Mass there twice. Once was for the funeral of a former parishioner of mine at Holy Rosary, Indianapolis. It was in her last months of life that her parents took Julie Shumard to Florida and put her into hospice care. Because I had taken care of Julia sacramentally for a few years, her family brought me down to Florida to celebrate her Requiem Mass at Christ the King. Julie was a fine lady and I miss her to this day. My second Mass was the next day, Sexagesima Sunday. Christ the King is a very lovely complex. The church is quite small, but there is an office and education area as well as a hall. To the best of my knowledge, Christ the King does very well for itself.

I hope you all remember Mike and Amanda Prince. Well, they live in Tampa and are very happy in their new home. I saw them last summer. We went to dinner at a rather smart restaurant in Anna Maria called The Sign of the Mermaid. I plan on seeing them on my vacation as well as Julie's mother, Millie and an old friend, Joe Frank, who is also a great and long-time friend of the FSSP. In fact, when I met Joe, he was Fr. Devillers' secretary at Elmhurst.

I look forward to Florida every year. We all need vacations, so be sure to take yours. I look forward to seeing you in September, my children and my friends.

Father Magiera
